I don't have much follower data for years before 2023. Looking at her Facebook posts, she posts that she is on the road to 100,000 followers, on October 7th, 2022. For the purposes of my analysis, I assume that she has 95,000 followers, as of 10/7/2022. Assuming 0 followers at 12/14/2019, this is a gain of about 93 followers per day. (see the photo on the page after this one, for the "we're on the road to 100,000 followers").

I don't have a screenshot for this, but I remember well seeing this post. When I saw this post, she had 400,000 followers. I am 99.9% certain that it was on June 7th, the same day that she posted it. This means that on June 7th, she had no more than 400,000 followers. Starting at May 4th, 1 day past where we left off, she is now at roughly 2,829 followers per day, from 5/4/2023 to 6/7/2023. That's quite the increase.

And we have another oddity. She is at 400,000 followers or less, on June 7th, 2023, but somehow knows that she is about to get half a million. In her native language, tagalog, the text below can be interpreted in numerous ways. I ran it by GPT-4, and GPT-4 said that, in this context, she is saying that she knows that she is about to have 500,000 followers. How is it that she knows that she is going to get another 100,000 followers in a short time period?

Let me give you the background. This was my girlfriend. I met her online. She was going to move to America and be my wife. I gave her over $1,200 in the few months that I knew her. That is a lot of money to me. I am on SSDI benefits. She thought the world of me. She had posted a photo of her brother, talking about how much he likes spaghetti. Her brother looked like a special needs child. I felt for her, and I wanted to help her. I sent her a message asking how I could get her some money to buy him spaghetti. I sent her $30. That's how we met.

There are some other parties in the mix, namely the United States Department of Justice (US DOJ), and my former employer (Wells Fargo). The latter, Wells Fargo initiated on a crime spree against me in April 2019. Wells Fargo induced people all over my city into crime. This was subsequent to Wells Fargo invading my privacy in December 2017. Wells Fargo and everyone Wells Fargo corraled into its crimes pounded me with brutal abuse for about 1.5 years. I am permanently disabled as a result. The repeated stress hormone overloads, from Wells Fargo's crime spree, impacted my brain and caused me severe, chronic PTSD and permanent neurological damage. I have yet to see a neurologist, to determine the nature of the damage that I have sustained, but my top expert healthcare providers are in agreement with me that I show very clear signs of significant neurological damage.

Over that 1.5 years, I built an airtight case against Wells Fargo and the various individuals & businesses that Wells Fargo induced into crime. Wells Fargo's crime spree didn't relent the entire time. As of October 2020, I had typed a 126 page complaint for the US DOJ. This was subsequent to them telling me, in March 2020, that the 9 page complaint, that I had at that time, wasn't detailed enough. My hardship was far from over.

Wells Fargo had gotten a heads up that they were going to be reported, and they had beaten me to the US DOJ. After hearing of these very serious crimes, the US DOJ initiated a cover-up. The cover-up would largely be executed by Wells Fargo and Wells Fargo's various accomplices. You may ask, why would the US DOJ do this? Wells Fargo is a G-SIB, or Globally Systemically Important Bank. These are banks for which an unexpected failure would threaten a global financial crisis. You may remember the story of Lehman Brothers, which the failure of kicked off the 2008 financial crisis. Lehman Brothers had roughly $700 billion in assets. At the time I turned my case over, Wells Fargo had over $1,900 billion, or $1.9 trillion, not much less than 3x the size of Lehman. The bank's G-SIB status makes it nearly impossible to prosecute, as a criminal prosecution would threaten a bank failure. G-SIB is just a formal name for what is more commonly called too big to fail.

This is what my case threatened, a series of serious crimes that would put the onus on the regulators and the authorities. To not prosecute the bank, and to not revoke its charter would be indefensible decisions. I never wanted any of this. I want the people who did this to me to pay consequences, and I wanted the bank to pay me money, as my promising professional life had been cut short by their crimes disabling me. I also suffer horribly, every single day. The bank has $150 billion to $200 billion in cash at any given time. This bank writing me a check for disabling me is not an existential threat. It can afford it. But the authorities and the regulators didn't want to tell the public that the bank was going to get away with it all, again. During the exact time that the bank was on the aggressive against me, it was negotiating an agreement with the US DOJ over having committed millions of felonies against its customers. That agreement, a deferred prosecution agreement, had been finalized on February 20th, 2020. It was barely one month later, on March 25th, 2020, when I am reporting, to the US DOJ, a slew of very serious crimes.

I fed ChatGPT (GPT-4) the complaint that I sent to the authorities. I then asked it to do an exploratory analysis of what laws may have been violated. You can see that analysis here: <https://d11rh5hycg1ekx.cloudfront.net/list-of-crimes-from-chat-gpt.pdf>. It is a 100% safe AWS cloudfront link. My complaint itself (which I don't really recommend that you read. It is long and overly detailed), can be found here:

<https://d11rh5hycg1ekx.cloudfront.net/complaintSentToAuthorities.pdf>. The partial list of crimes that I prepared, up to October 2020, can be found here: <https://d11rh5hycg1ekx.cloudfront.net/crimesAndCivilTorts.pdf>.

Make no mistake about it. While what crimes have been committed is has not fully been determined (some on my list and also on ChatGPTs are unquestionable), the events that I describe in my complaint have occurred. This is also true for the events in the cover-up, that subsequently occurred. Some of my evidence requires specialized expertise to fully understand. I have had numerous phd psychologists and people in the legal profession look at my evidence. They all say that my evidence vets my claims conclusively. My case is airtight, and even the laypeople who look at it are convinced. The only people who do not believe me are those who have not looked at my evidence.

The authorities and the regulators are dealing with a situation that is impossible to handle without an out of the box solution. So called megabanks like Wells Fargo play a crucial role in the economy. You can't live without them. You can't uproot them out of the broader economic system without risking hardship to and chaos in that system. The system is the source of the livelihoods of us all, and it is subject to a permanent state of fragility, to some degree. Even in times of boom, you never know what event might happen to threaten to destabilise the system. We saw that with coronavirus.

In the face of this, the authorities and the regulators appear to have taken a breathtakingly self-centered approach to this terrible situation. They have attempted to rationalize, to themselves and to others, that they are justified in not helping me, that they are justified in covering up this bank's crimes, and
