Give me all the info you have on him. I am disabled and have a lot on my plate, but I'll find some way to make his life hell, hopefully. Twitter might not let me post it but I'll likely find some avenue

10:07 AM

When you say that you fear the consequences for you, you mean you fear that he may victimize you or your family or damage your property?

10:08 AM

He could come after me - by reporting me to the

I am disabled with severe ptsd, and I have lot of time where all I can do is surf the internet

10:14 AM

I'm so sorry - I know what PTSD is like. It is crippling. A horrendous way to live.

10:15 AM

And I am a badass investigator + am good at making hellfire and destruction fall all over people's existence

10:23 AM

The way to do this is to build a case against him in the background, and when we've got enough, we turn it over to the police

It will be high risk at a lot of the times

But he won't have a clue that you have anything to do with it

10:24 AM

Yes. Would have to be turned over by someone who isn't me or they'll think it's malicious on my part

10:24 AM

Oh yes

We will work out those details when we get these

10:24 AM

But once we've got enough evidence, I may call him and get him to hang himself on the recorded line

10:27 AM

I'd be interested to know what sort of horse shit he comes out with.

10:27 AM

It is very useful to have people lying their asses off on a recording

10:28 AM

I'm sure he thinks he is invincible

10:28 AM

Makes them that much more suspect

And I inherited this ability from him

I am a very kindhearted man

10:31 AM

Not physically violent though?

10:31 AM

But what I've found

10:31 AM

(Him I mean!)

10:31 AM

Is that crime is a game of deception

And catching criminals is a game of deception

10:31 AM

10:32 AM

And I'm not the guy anyone wants to fuck with in this game

Oh yes, I don't know how long it will take

But in the end, he is likely to think that he's been descended on by the devil himself

I want you to know that I have not forgotten about you. I have been very ill and also have my own fight to attend to. I'll be on the case with this demented Romeo at some point.

there is a chance that I get some enormous amount of money out of my fight. If it is ginormous enough, I will hire a team of private investigators in your country and have them build a case to turn over to the authorities.

I won't forget him completely until he is exposed and made to pay for what he's done to you and others. He may be on the back burner for a while but he's permanently on the agenda

It makes me so mad how you have to suffer like this and to have such an injustice. This motherfucker is going to get it. I got a new girlfriend that I love to death. She and her family are priority #1 for what I use my money for. I do think it is likely that I get way more than enough to hire you some investigators.

Have you ever tried EMDR?

We will get your attacker. He will pay for what he has done to you. I am most likely going to get an enormous sum of money in the next 3 months to maybe 2 years. Probably more like 5 months.

Other outcomes are possible. It is possible that I don't get anything. It is also possible that I am permanently institutionalized under false pretenses, or put in prison for life under false pretenses.

I put the odds at a little over 50% that I get money. If I get at least $500 million USD, I will use part of my money to hire a team of private investigators to collect information on him. Possibly will do that if I get less than $500 million, but for sure if I get $500 million or more.

Hey my friend, just wanted to make sure you know that I haven't forgotten about you. Silence doesn't equal absence. I haven't had any time to stalk your abuser on the internet. My plan for him has been to get a load of money and then use some of it to fund an extensive private investigation of him.

I've been consumed by my battle with these indecent soul murderers who terrorize me to no end. It's big shit that I'm involved in. The latest development is that the bank and the Justice Department have figured out just what a piece of toast they are. They've faded into the background and abandoned their offensive. They are acting as if they are willing to work with me in a settlement.

I have sent them a message that I will try to settle for an amount that is easier for them to hide. I have previously mentioned figures in the billions of dollars. The goal of the people on the other end is for no one to ever know what has

The initial payment that I will get, out of what I have proposed, will likely be $12 million or less, after taxes and after paying the people helping me with my fight. Investigations get expensive, and so this will make it hard. I am disabled and this will be all the money that I ever have, the money I get out of this. But we will work out something.

Nothing is certain. These people are completely indecent conmen and murderers. It's like I'm dealing with a bunch of monsters. They do things to dupe me into trusting them all of the time, and when I naively believe in them, they massacre me with cruel abuse and crime.

One possibility, among all of them, is that the justice department acts friendly towards me, at the end of everything. If they at all present themselves as owing me a favor or willing to do a favor for me, I will put your case in front of them and get you in touch with them. They have no jurisdiction over your country, but my idea would be to let them see what happened to you, review all the evidence you have, and then contact the favor for me, I will put your case in front of them and get you in touch with them. They have no jurisdiction over your country, but my idea would be to let them see what happened to you, review all the evidence you have, and then contact the authorities in your country and persuade them to invest resources into your case.

I call these people monsters, but they're not, not exactly. They just behave like monsters towards me because the situation I am in could crash the whole world. It's a situation where I am a liability for, and am under the attention of, extremely powerful people. It could go any way. Their power can be used against me, or they may have a whim to use their power to help me.

I've been sharing my YouTube video about my Wells Fargo/us doj sponsored girlfriend. Though you might find it interesting. Let me know of you

My heart breaks for you. I have not forgot about you and never will. This man will pay. You will have peace and security in life. These people are trying to kill me. I will be worth a fortune in the ground. It will go to those I want to help and those I have committed to help. I will have a Wall Street bank with $200 billion in cash and the worlds only superpower seeking atonement, or else facing the end of the world. This motherfucker will get crucified.

If they put me in prison, I will get press coverage. The fight will go on. I will leverage everything that I have and I will never betray you. The fight will go on till my last breath and likely beyond
