Please help me

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

I have another brain scan on June 8th. I cannot take any more stress about money and my mother is killing me. Please make sure she has enough that I don't have to worry about money for this whole month. My apt complex is getting around the eviction ban and threatening me with de facto eviction. They have a way to kick you out without evicting you. It has something to do, I think, with the fact that, in this process they have you retain your bundle of rights with the exception of the right to possess your home.

I am literally about dead and am suffering terribly. I worry I will not make it.

I told you I wouldn't email you but I am extremely weak and desperate. One day I may be able to help you some way and I will. My word is good.
