Media and updates

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

I sent an email saying that the media isn't reading my messages. I have reason to believe, now, that this may be in the news at some point. I believe that the likelihood is enough that you should plan for that contingency. I'd put it at 10% to 25%. This assumes that you care if this is in the media or not. I'm getting a tiny bit of traction. I have prepared a monster sized amount of stuff for the media, as I have been sending them messages, audios, etc. If I can capitalize on this traction, it will likely snowball very fast.

Every last crime I allege did in fact occur. I have repeatedly said this. If you have doubts, you maybe should think about the scenario where these crimes did occur. That is the reality that we may be facing in the public eye. I'm just making a suggestion. You know what's best for you.

I thank you again for the help you have given me. I do believe that you have done things to help me. I am very frequently in constant, terrible pain and distress. I am terrified much of the time. This situation is something I cannot make sense of and I don't know what's right or wrong here. I just know that this hell I'm living needs to get better, not worse. I know that Wells Fargo's behavior was vicious and terrible and inexcusable, and I am still suffering to this day. It is as if Wells Fargo's needs dominate everything else. There is no room for me or anyone else.

I went to the e.r. for my heart injury. All my tests came back normal and the doctor said that he saw no signs of a heart injury. I told him more about my problem and he said I need to see a cardiologist. I fact checked the doctor, and some of what he said about heart injuries is wrong. I am having repeated stress based injuries to my heart, end of story. A specialist is what I need. This last injury seems to have healed. I feel like I'm going to die every time I get one of these.

This situation is terrible and should have never happened. Terrible situations that should never happen are life's signature move. It does it to you constantly. I mean well in all that I do and try to see the well meaning of others, so please excuse my constant rollercoaster of being happy, then mad, then begging for help. I am suffering like you cannot believe and this is horrific.

If Wells Fargo is in the media for its demonic behavior, it needs to not go on the aggressive. I want to have something where both the company and me are better off, and my gestures of kindness and mercy tend to backfire and/or get me nowhere. If I say that I want something good and they respond with a massive offensive, slinging mud, propaganda, defaming me, this will throw a wrench in it. We need to not throw a wrench in any constructive outcomes that may happen. If the economy tanks, it is a result of this banks behavior not mine. I tried to work it out and will keep trying. They need to meet me halfway. They will just have to admit they done something wrong.
