I may be publicly known

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

I am going to put a book I wrote for sale online. It is a great book and my goal is to sell 3,000 copies. I am going to try to make it go viral.

In my sales copy, I will talk about how I am disabled. My book sale will be 50% selling a book and 50% electronic begging. It's a "you donate to my cause and I'll give you this great book" type of offer.

In re me being disabled, I am going to describe it as a "terrible set of events" that happened to me. I will possibly mention that I am trying to work it out with the people involved. I will not mention any specifics.

I want to be a friend to all of the people on the other side of this, and I want the people on the other side of this to help me and make it right.

This past week has been very good. I have had much lower symptoms for 4 out of the last 6 days. My book project has me hopeful that I can have some kind of life.

If I can make stuff to sell people in my usable hours, my life might not crumble. If my condition keeps improving, as it strangely has for this week, that is another sign for hope.

I will almost certainly be able to keep my promise to not mention the specifics of what WFB et al have done to me, to any new people, before 8/15/2021.

I don't know what you're doing, but I hope you are trying to help me. I want this to be a win/win/win/win across the board. I want the US DOJ to win, I want Wells Fargo to win, I want me to win, I want America to win. I want us to all win.

If you could somehow give me a sign or tell me what I need to do, that would be great. My intent is to try to think of the interests of the people on the other side of this. It makes it much easier if I am given a hint about what's up. If I'm left in the dark, my mind can go to a place where I think I need to fight. I am still prone to being a firecracker.

I am again sorry for all of the death talk in those other audios. This is disturbing and imposing. It was also unfortunately my honest thoughts and feelings. The past week has not felt like I'm in the valley of the shadow of death, not so intensely. Although I still frequently feel pain and despair, and I have symptoms throughout the day, my improved condition gives me hope, and I really want my hopes to pan out.

Clint Williams
