My situation

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

AU girl appears to possibly have been a cruel trick, on top of the cruelty that has already been dealt to me. There was always something that didn't add up about her. I cared so much for her, and still do, but she doesn't care for me if that is what this is.

Overall, this week I have had less symptoms than is typical. I am still not fit to work, but I may try anyways. I am very frightened. Destruction has been poured all over my life. I need someone to help me.

I ask that you please make this work out for me,
So that I get something. Allie Row is enjoying her debt free home. Everyone else is enjoying the spoils of their crimes, while also enjoying the freedom they are allowed to keep, despite all of these crimes.

100+ years in prison time to go around. Who did this collection of people victimize, to rack up such a massive tally? Did they con or defraud 20 people? Did they violate the rights of dozens of people? No, for all 100+ of those years, the kind hearted man who is typing this was the victim. Possibly the biggest victimization in the history of American business, a massive dog pile on one man.

This is what I get for asking this bank to tell the truth. I try to see them in a better light. At times, I do. If they have genuinely tried to help me, that means a lot, but the evidence doesn't fully add up to that. If they help me it would mean so much.

I have been especially kind to Wells Fargo for most of this, considering what they did to me. That I still think of them and worry about their bank says something about me.
