I don't know what to do

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

I am not fighting anyone or building a case on anyone. I have not been doing this for a long time. If I am coming across as having some kind of opposition, that is not the case. My life will have very limited prospects if they do not make it right. I will never know what it is like to be in love, and I am unable to fend for myself.

I for sure need the hardships being place on me to be lifted. That's what's causing my fear for the past many hours. I'm worried about my medications. If I can get my meds filled, I can have a month to think about it. You can rest too. I feel extremely helpless with my condition. That's why I worry about me having a life. I also care a lot for AU girl.

I cannot take any more hardships such as this. I ask that you please be kind to me.

Clint Williams
