Re: Let's end this

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

My promise is good still yet, but I wanted to tell you some things. If I get AU girl and whatever was planned there, or if I get any kind of help, I can keep it under wraps.

I would prefer to keep my apartment in Charlotte or live in Charlotte, but I could move to NY as well, if that makes things easier. If absolutely necessary, I could move to a different country.

No one has any reason to believe the things I allege, and if my friends ask me how I got this girl or this money or this whatever, I can tell them that we settled over the privacy violation, and none of the rest was true. Or I can tell them something else. They are not likely to think much else of it.

People tend to not have any interest in me or my life. For 98% of the time, my friends only message me if I first message them. No one cares to spontaneously see how I'm doing. This is a consequence of my lifestyle, where I am a loner and do not invest a lot in most of my relationships.

Any and all obstacles to getting me help can be overcome, I promise. I will work fully with you. We can make it a win win across the board. You still have the opportunity to do this. It is the right thing to do. It is the right thing that I get something out of the destruction I have been dealt.

But again, my promise is still good. Please get them to write that script tomorrow. I am somewhat likely to sleep past 4 or 5 pm, so they can leave me a message if I don't answer. I'll get my mother to set up a day off so I can get it filled.

My heart is broken. This is a terrible outcome for me. I don't know how you do this to someone, truthfully.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
