Re: Audios for 10_01_2021 part 02

I am starting to have faint hopes of a life after this. For this I need you to please relent any current or future waves of abuse. I have been crying all day today.

I ask too, that if any of the people from Wells Fargo who have so many private details of my life, if any of them see me, please do not belittle me or speak condescendingly to me about my life or in any way. I have had the feeling for a long time that if I were to see one of these people out in person, I would cry on the spot. I feel humiliated and worthless.

I am severely damaged, extremely severely. There is no way that I could have ever seen any of this coming. I have been massacred in a way that was unavoidable.

I do think that a concern for the economy is what drives the inhibition. I never wanted anything bad for the economy. In retrospect, it would probably create quite the shit storm, what has happened to me.

I am a simple man who lives a pretty simple life. I have managed to cross paths with this company that outweighs me 200 million to 1. Our interests are not symmetrical in weight or in importance. This I understand. What I will never understand is why something couldn't be done to help me. This is so terrible and so heartbreaking.

I will hurt over what has happened for the rest of my life, and will likely have some ill feelings towards the bank on and off. Right now, though, I feel like saying that I wish them well and I hope they do a lot and accomplish a lot with the price that I paid. No need for it to go to waste.

I thank you too, for the time you have invested in this. Someone somewhere tried to help me with AU girl. I have for sure been very needy too, and this creates a workload.

We are coming to an end of this battle. I am shattered completely and who knows what hardship I will face in the near term future.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
