Don't want to go back on my word

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>

I told you that this is just between you and me. I take this very seriously. My situation is extremely dire however. I have thought up a way to get this in front of the entire public fast. I am likely to do it in the near term future if you don't reach out to me with a way for me to get some help. I have no choice. It is this or endless suffering for the next 20 or 30 years of my life, until I die.

I have asked you for help for a year now, and I don't even get a reply to my email. This is while I suffer unbearably. Then you sponsor criminal abuse of me.

This is not justice and I did no wrong.

I have nothing to lose and am even willing to go to prison. I do not intend to hurt anyone or to break any rule that I currently know of. I may end up breaking some rule that I am not presently aware of.

Please reach out to me fast, so that I can not go back on my word. I will likely begin on my plans tomorrow and move forward next week. I can say that almost 100% for sure, my new plans will have this in the public eye in a big way and very fast.

I mean no harm, but this is bullshit. I would prefer the death penalty to the life I have before me. That is how bad I suffer. While I suffer like this, the justice department sponsors crime against me. I want to be your friend and I want you to be my friend.

My new plans may create a shit storm that cannot be contained and god only knows what kind of scare may be created with the markets and whatever else.

I have no choice, as my suffering is unbearable. I am in too much pain.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
