It's time to give up on you

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>, civil.feedback@usdoj.gov

I think it's time to give up on you. I believed in you so much. I continued to believe in you against 100% of the evidence. I needed your help so badly that I didn't have much choice but to believe in you. It was a mistake to believe in you. I am heartbroken by your unbelievable cruelty and your cruelty hurts.

I will be sending you some final communications. I want to prepare a letter to go to the criminal division, civil division, F.B.I., and OIG. I asked all of the above for help, and I got none. I have no choice but to see you as vile, vulgar human beings. I wanted to be your friend, but that is no more. To be a friend to the United States Department of Justice is to be an enemy of justice.

You are an obstructor of and an impediment to justice. You are criticized for coddling the powerful and prosecuting the powerless. How am I to say anything but that this is absolute truth, as a disabled man who has been tormented and tortured by you, as you simultaneously protect this bank from any and all consequences of its behavior?

You are probably glad to see me go. I imagine you cheering as you see this communication. This is the behavior of someone who doesn't recognize my humanity and also the behavior of someone who is not concerned with the kind of person he or she is. You have cashed in fully on the benefits of having no decency and of aspiring to nothing.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
