

Leonard Clinton Williams III [REDACTED]@gmail.com>

Mar 31st, 2022, 12:23 AM

Re: Final Letter to US DOJ

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>, civil.feedback@usdoj.gov

I send you these communications where I try to make it more cordial and make you out to be good people. I try to frame it in a way that you are good and I am good. I try to appeal to the better part of you.

The idea that I get is that you don't care. My words mean nothing to you and are just noise. You don't care to try to understand or to engage with me. You don't see me as a full fledged human being and you see your own interests as too important.

I try and try to be your friend. Look at how kind I am being to you. Who else talks like this to people who have committed horrible crime against him? I am a bigger man than you are or ever will be.

The day will come when you become a murderer. If I die at my own hands, it will still be your fault. It is you who gave me more than I can take, with your cruel abuse. I don't know when that day will be, but it will almost certainly come.

You will win in a match where we see who can be the biggest bully or the toughest thug on the block. For you to engage in such a battle is immoral. You are the United States of America and I am one single disabled man. It is immoral and yet you have done it. You have crushed me through an abuse of your ample power.

What you cannot win in is a match to see who tried the hardest to be a decent person and to live a moral life. Who strived with the most effort and who took the high ground the most. I told my entire life's story to The LA Times signal line, including every rotten thing that I've ever done. I thought it would one day reach the whole world, yet I told them anyways. I knew that it would be painful beyond belief, to lose my privacy all at once like that, but I also knew that I have nothing to hide in the end. My efforts to be a good person and to do right have been too great; they are such as to be beyond the capacity of most people. I am a good man despite the the limitations imposed upon me by certain aspects of my nature.

I'm too tired to finish this email.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams

(980)-[REDACTED]