This new medication is torture. While I'm on it, however, I don't want to die so intensely. You need to face the reality that I live everyday- this bank massacred me and I am damaged beyond repair. When this bank leaves the picture, it leaves a gap that is too big for anyone else to fill. This bank used its enormous resources to cause this damage, and it needs to use those same resources to fix it. This bank has to be part of the solution.
