Re: You have killed me

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>, civil.feedback@usdoj.gov

I want you to take responsibility for what you've done. These heart problems are the result of my terrible suffering and horrific stress, caused by your abuse as I was handicapped and that handicapped me worse. I needed your help and you massacred me with crime instead. I am not sure, but I think it is likely that I do not survive another week.

The appropriate thing to do, for others, is to take the law into their own hands. You're a bunch of deadbeat thugs and a criminal accomplice to Wells Fargo. There is no point in contacting the us doj about Wells Fargo's crimes. The us doj just massacres you with more crimes, like the thugs that they are. These people at the NC DOJ are almost as useless. They are deadbeats too but at least they don't sponsor crimes.

If I had this to do over again, I would take the law into my own hands. I would likely use force against these people. Possibly shoot some of them. I would rob them and collect the money that they owe me. I would kidnap them.

Does this sound offensive to you? I can already hear you yelling about how all of this is against the law, but what does the law have to do with anything when you're dealing with the thugs at the justice department. You are offended when someone like me just ignores the law and acts as if it doesn't exist, and this is just your bias against the powerless and your bigotry. You take no such offense to Wells Fargo's conduct. Wells Fargo is a criminal; you are a criminal, and you make a mockery of your mission statement to enforce the rule of law.

I would actually not take the law into my own hands. I was just using that as an example. I do think that others are justified in taking the law into their own hands. This lawlessness that goes on in only one direction is not doable.

I just told you off and I'm a dying man. I don't feel like deleting all of that. Have mercy on me and understand. You have mercy on yourself. Reflect on what you've done, and tell me if you wouldn't be this way or worse, if it were you.

I want to put together my evidence stuff but right now I'm too weak. I will likely go at a snails pace and possibly die before I have it all together. If I can put it together you will have to answer for what you've done.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
