And here is what I sent him after that-

If you would have seen me, none of this would have been the least bit apparent. I would have seemed very much like the person you used to know and that you knew for so long.

If you were with me for a length of time, say 1 or 2 or 3 hours, you will start to get an idea that I'm very badly damaged and not the same.

If someone provoked me and I went into this man trapped in a jungle feeling intensely, it would be visibly apparent that something very bad is wrong with me. You would likely sense that something bad is about to happen. When i get in this state intensely, I adopt this strange demeanor, and this demeanor and the way I act is easy to notice if you pay attention.

I think that it is likely that you have ran this by some experts. If you have or you do, i picture oddest part of this to them being the part where I talk about adopting a strange demeanor. This is partially based on me picturing what would happen and also based just a little bit on a real life experience.

What I'm talking about is it is like I will become kind of sneaky and also focused. The focused quality is strange and is hard to communicate, but it's like I become goal oriented and kind of quiet, and my eyes start to be fixated in a strange way.

In this state, I would try to hide my demeanor and act as calmly as I could, because my goal is to murder the other person. It is an intensely held goal and in that moment is the only thing that matters in the world. I would do everything I can to not alert them.

Still yet, there is something extremely bad wrong with me, and the way I behave is likely to cause people to feel very uneasy. The lesser I am able to conceal my demeanor the more that it would stick out and the worse people would worry. The sense that I get is that it would be something unlike anything they had ever seen before, but at the same time, people have an ability to sense the mental state of others, and I believe they would be able to sense this strange place my mind has gone to. They would know that this is bad news and they would also sense that I am handicapped in some way.
