I have no idea what to do. I am extremely damaged. I need to find some way for this to be over for you, but I don't know how. I am such a massacred human being. I mean I am helpless and I'm all over the place. I could get a reporter started on my story with a week or 10 days, easily. I don't do that for a number of reasons, the big one being that I have a multipronged plan for when I get this in the media.

I don't want to be in the public eye, but I am so incredibly damaged that it is going to cost a fortune for me to just be able to live. I will need people to help me with everything. I can't do anything for myself and never will be able to, except work on my computer and type on my iPhone and tablet and surf the internet on both of those. I can't clean to save my life and I will need to pay people to drive for me. All of this will be for the rest of my life.

On top of that, I suffer so extremely that it will take a fortune to make it worth it for me to live. If I am to live, I need to be able to offset this suffering and have something.

The best thing is for me to go overseas and die. That won't cost nearly as much.

Every offer I've given is Pennies on the dollar but I don't want to set the bank back with a massive amount of money. I would feel bad about that, probably. I'm speaking here of my figure of $10 billion that I threw out. That would put them way behind.

I don't know what to do. If my behavior is a mystery, pay for me a team of experts and pay for me all the brain scans that this team needs to evaluate me. There is something extraordinarily bad wrong with me. I am extremely ill and I don't think it's anything that could be considered normal. I may be a one of a kind example of the type of damage that I have suffered. Whatever it is, it is extreme. The experts could find the reason for why I suffer so bad and am so out of control. I do believe they would tell you that we are dealing with something extreme.

I have thought about writing the people in Switzerland and asking them to accept me into their country, in exchange for the copyright to a book about my life and other things that I could write about. I just need to be comfortable and have as little hell and hardship as possible long enough to write a book about my life. It will defend my character and I have a story to tell. They could pay for my life and get it back when my book is published. And then that would be the end of my story. It sounds insane, probably, but this is quite a reasonable outcome when you consider the reality of what we face.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
