I am going to end up dying as a result of what has happened. If I get a settlement, I'm going to move to Switzerland. I'm constantly wanting to die now, so I am likely to not make it to the point of getting a settlement. I'm scared to try to negotiate with you because you are criminals. That was the purpose of getting my story in the media. People would see the bullshit you're up to and that would put a constraint on your ability to run criminal scams.

I'm mad cause I'm a fighter for justice and I deserve justice, but I cant fight because the people who are supposed to enforce the rules are breaking the rules and committing crimes against me. I've been getting terrorized and having my life cruelly destroyed for over 4 years, actually over 5 years.

I am in such despair that even if I had $10 billion, I would constantly want to die. It would be enough though, that I could be motivated to keep on living. If I settle with you for less, I will be lucky to make it 1 month before I'm arranging to move. I would like to live in another country, like Switzerland, for a lot of reasons. It is a big reason though, that I could escape my pain, if I so choose, peacefully. For sure, I want to have a brain scan if I do settle. That will be where some of the money goes. I will probably get several brain scans, like fMRI, PET scan, and whatever else is available. I will also get an EEG or whatever that is called, for my brain. There is something extremely bad wrong with me and it has to do with my brain. I know that last part for a 100% fact, and I'm 99% confident that there exists some kind of brain scan that would show the difference in my brain from the typical persons brain. I think a PET scan would be the best test for this, but I will get them all. I've looked it up online and they've got some scans that are much lesser known.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
