My new worry is that I am going to suffer from a snake infestation. These things can lay 100s of eggs at a time, some of them. There was a baby snake in my room yesterday. We put it in a box and took it outside, then let it free. My worry is that we have more than 1 baby snake. These things have laid eggs and the harvest is coming.

It is me being disabled that led to this, I think. This thing where I can't clean or manage my life has resulted in crumbs of food being on the floor. This attracts mice, which then attracts snakes. This is why I need money to pay people to clean for me. I could have gotten justice, if it wasn't for the United States Department of Justice. You are dedicated and ruthless obstructors of justice. For you, a just world is one where this bank is endlessly pampered and allowed to do as it pleases, at any and all costs, as long as you or the bank aren't among those that have to pay the costs. This is what is indicated by your actions, and by this process that you have designed to handle my case. You have delivered a full service pampering of Wells Fargo.

In your approach to this, I was literally not worth .00001% of the value to be dished out. An approach that is 99.99999% about Wells Fargo and .000001% about me was intolerable, from the perspective of Wells Fargo and the Justice Department. Both you and the bank were so extreme in this that you would murder me over that remaining .00001%.

We've got to do better next time. This was your first go at dealing with a crime spree that could crash the whole world, and you've made a lot of very costly mistakes. I won't be there for the next time. It will be someone else, but you need to do better.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
