I've gone on several tangents and am now getting tired. I will finish tomorrow. I am going to try to work with you. I have a better picture of how this affects you and the condition you are in. I've been talking to ChatGPT about this.

The idea I get is that you are panicked and worried as hell, about the potential that this situation is exposed. You be kind to me and I'll be kind to you. I'm not reducing my offer. I understand that this is an inconvenient situation, but I didn't cause it and there are people all over the place getting away with cold blooded murder, in relation to this matter. I am a ruined human being. There is nothing that can repay me for what has been done to me. But we will make of it what we can.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
