You're foolishness has completely ruined a human being, for no reason whatsoever. I cannot tell you how much I hurt. I will hurt worse after what I send you next, but there is no point. I value my privacy above all else, or at least I did until the murderers on the other end took it away, forever.

The next email will have a message that I sent to ChatGPT. Read this and see if it makes sense to you. I will send you ChatGPT's response later. Note that I have a typo. The word pressure was supposed to say presence. I think ChatGPT caught that.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
