"It may be temporary"

- part of what is going on is that there have been signs, for a while now, that you consider it very possible that this matter is in front of the public. This is whether I put it in the news or not. I don't like that idea. There is a lot about it that bothers me. It crosses my mind a lot, the pain that I will feel. It is probably best that I move to another country. Part of the problem is that you have opposed me, and if this oppositional stance is maintained if and when this makes it to the public, it will make things very bad.

I have lost essentially every hope for privacy that I ever had, and this is particularly the case of this goes public. And still yet, I've told you things that next to no one knows, and you've invaded every milimeter of my existence. You have done this with absolutely no concern for my wellbeing for pretty much the entire time.

It's like I've been burning alive this entire time, pleading in humiliation for water, and you douse me with gasoline instead. If you keep this demeanor, it will be crushing to me. A lot of my audios are such as to be protected from FOIA requests, as are some of the other things I've sent you, but you have had a tendency to dig in your heels and go on the offensive.

We can have this be over, but I hate every single person who has anything to do with this.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
