I'm done beating you to death. I'm not going to put it in your face and demean you or call you clowns. You've made a terrible set of mistakes, and you are being incredibly self-centered. I'm glad that it wasn't my friend in the UK that you told lies about me behind my back. I want so badly to help her. She is starting to lose faith.

I don't know what your motive is, for doing all of this. I don't know if you're trying to put me in a position where I cannot negotiate with you or if you're trying to do something worse. I had a good streak there where things were looking better. It is possible to have concern for me, the very kindhearted man who came to you for help.

I don't lie that I've got a little bit of a vicious streak in me, but it's a very small part of me. It's enough for me to rip you to shreds and to be really mean to you, when you do the kind of things that you've done to me. But my kind heart wins in the end, in all that I do.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
