

Leonard Clinton Williams III [REDACTED]@gmail.com>

Apr 19th, 2024, 11:47 PM

Re: audio about my rationale

To: "Division, Criminal (CRM)" <Criminal.Division@usdoj.gov>, civil.feedback@usdoj.gov

"Here successful people and geniuses share a common trait: most are lifelong learning addicts. It's a good habit to have."

I had forgotten about this one. I don't mean to be vain. That's not the point. It's just that I know who I am very well, and no one else does. But who do people listen to? Poor little Jenny had a pretty accurate sense. She got a big enough dose of me, and she's a good enough people reader. She told me one day "you like to have a puzzle to solve." At that point, I had never thought about it in those precise terms, but that's exactly it. I have a compulsion to solve puzzles. I help people because I care about people, but another factor is that I am good at cracking the code for almost anything, and I relish a good challenge, when I find one that suits me.

---

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams

(980)-[REDACTED]