"I'll still fight you to the death, as if this is the only thing that ever has or ever will matter."

- it is a plain fact that this is the most consequential thing to ever happen in my life & the defining event of my life. There will never be a stay that I do not think about it. If I had 10 phds who wanted to hear, I would stay booked forever, walking them through my evidence and what has happened. I just get sick of tending to it. I have things that I like to do, that I am very interested in, that I cannot do because I have to tend to this.

Warmest Regards,

Clint Williams
