You're obviously going to do whatever you decide to do, but if you want my advice, try not to do anything to rev me up in the next 9 days. There is no such thing as intimidating me. You just trigger me to up the ante and fight back harder. Every last thing you have done has done that, at least as I can recall.

I don't leave the kitchen. Nobody ever scares me out of the kitchen. I just keep turning up the heat until one of us dies. I will scream and cry as my skin cracks and pops and as I am burning alive. I am only human and I am also quite a sensitive person. It is just not my nature to back down from anyone.

And actually put it longer than 9 days. Just don't rev me up until this is over. I'm going to have to have several meetings with this attorney. Your worst outcome is for the public to become aware of your actions. I like to stay out of the spotlight too. We can work this out.
